

Manhattan

Isaac runs into NY apartment lobby to find Tracy about to leave for London...

Isaac: Hi.

Tracy: Hi. What are you doing here?

Isaac: I ran. I tried to call you on the phone, but it was busy so ... I knew it was two hours worth of ... I couldn't get a taxicab so I ran. Where you going?

Tracy: London

Isaac: You're going to London now? What do you mean, if I get over here two minutes later, you'd be gone to London? Let me get right to the point then. I don't think you ought to go. I think I made a big mistake, and I would prefer it if you didn't go.

Tracy: Isaac.

Isaac: I mean it. I know it looks real bad now but, you know... Are you seeing anybody? Are you going with anybody?

Tracy: No.

Isaac: So, well, do you still love me or has that worn off or what?

Tracy: Jesus. you pop up. You don't call me and then you suddenly appear. I mean, what happened to that woman you met?

Isaac: I don't see her anymore. I made a mistake. What do you want me to say? I don't think you ought to go to London.

Tracy: I have to go. All the plans have been made. Arrangements. My parents are there now looking for a place for me to live.

Isaac: Do you still love me, or what?

Tracy: Do you love me?

Isaac: Yeah, of course, that's what this is all about.

Tracy: Guess what? I turned 18 the other day. I'm legal, but I'm still a kid.

Isaac: You're not such a kid. Eighteen years old. They could draft you. In some countries you'd be ... You look good.

Tracy: You really hurt me.

Isaac: It was not on purpose. I mean, it was just the way I was looking at things then.

Tracy: I'll be back in six months.

Isaac: Six months. Are you kidding? Six months you're going to go for?

Tracy: We've gone this long. I mean, what's six months if we still love each other?

Isaac: Hey, don't be so mature, OK? I mean, six months is a long time. Six months. You'll be working in the theater there. You'll be with actors and directors. You go to rehearsal, and you hang out with those people. You have lunch a lot, and before you know it, attachments form. You don't want to get into that kind of ... You'll change. In six months you'll be a completely different person.

Tracy: Well, don't you want me to have that experience. You know, a while ago you made such a convincing case.

Isaac: Of course I do but ... I just don't want that thing about you that I like to change.

Tracy: I've gotta make a plane.

Isaac: You don't have to go.

Tracy: Why couldn't you have brought this up last week. Six months isn't so long. Everybody gets corrupted. You have to have a little faith in people.