D
your father keeps fifteen thousand dollars in his room. For what tips?

W Idont know. I guess hes got some illicit lingerie deal in the works or something. I don't know

D
you father is so heavy man....

W

yeah. So after he threw me out and went ot supper. I was just roaming the house looking for liftable objects, if that was gonna be his attitude. So I go in his bedroom and the rests this sinister looking briefcase just sitting on his bed. So I jimmied open the lock and theres like rows and rows of cash just staring at me. Like totally full of money.

jason.

W
yeah! So im like 'dad' and then im like. " Should I take this" tis is some serious money.

And then im lick , " fuck yeah. Make him pay.' so I take out the cash, and I fill the briefcase with all these old national geographics and lock it up again. So itll probably sit therer for the weekend, and then when he goes to deposit it, or bribe whoever he was planning on bribing, ell open it up and hopefully he'll think like one of his cohorts ripped him off. Or like, his sult did it.

no he wont

W why not?

D
Because he isnt a morn

W yes he is

D
you really think after he throw you out of the house hes gonna open his briefcase and find twenty copies of his own national geographics where his money should be, and hes not gonna know you did it? Youre a fuckin moron. Now get that shit outta here.

W
Im telling you –

But my father is not a criminal. Hes just in business with crimianals.

D
What kind of life do you lead? You live with your father– a psycho. He beats the shit out of you on like this regular basis, you habitually owe me hundreds of dollsars, you never pay me– until now, but we wont even discuss that– noboby can stand to have you around because you're such an annoying loud mouthed little creep!

W

why do you say that shit?

D

because it's true

W

why do you—

D

because you deserve it

are you about to cry

W

No... I don't know what to do. I don't know where to go.

D

well— for one thing you should give me five thousand dollars and then you should return that money
